Chapter one

A stranger

The morning was mellow in atmosphere today, Remmick has just come back from work, he fixed some pipes for a bunch of folk and couldn't wait much more to sit on his couch drink some cold beer and watch the only thing that the government allowed on the TVs here, that being propaganda, it's depressing in the hell-hole of a town he was forced into. Ever since the world went to shit people went crazy at least those who stayed human, the towns' leader which is the only accurate way to describe her was one of the human people, she created a cage for humans through torture, limiting rights, destroying democracy, and military surveillance. Even the beer here was non-alcoholic unless you were one of the masked weirdos that worshiped her and worked for her government. At this point no one could count the days since they were kidnapped and forced into making the gears turn for the porcelain doll faced monster that she was, Ah the porcelain that was the key part, the weird one's the government workers would wear masks ones like dolls, they wanted them to be odd ones out in the town so the military wouldn't shoot them down by accident at any moment. Forced into a dead white smile, at least they were happy, that's what Remmick said, mainly to ignore his problems, shut them down and not get shot between the eyes. Sitting on the couch, he heard some struggles in the halls, some guy being forced onto the floor with his government provided apartment, having nothing better do to Remmick made his way to the door to have a listen, the soldiers were cussing out the guy, he heard the door opposite to his open with a sudden thump sort of sound as whoever was dragged there was thrown on the floor, the apartment there was empty, but now seems he would be having a neighbor for once in his life, he did not dare open the door or move a bit in fear he'd be heard. That was until the soldiers dropped some keys on the tiled floors, said their goodbyes with laughter, and left. At that he opened the door slowly, the guy on the floor was new that's for sure, he was also young but an adult for sure, his nose had a bump at the top, under it was a mustache not a well-kept one more like a unshaved bit of messy hair, he had a slight beard at the cheeks with a patch of it on the chin, which had a cleft in its middle, the man wore glasses it was hard to tell but his eyes seemed a very dark and rich brown maybe hazel the same as his hair, he was also very pale almost like those dolls but a tad of blues and yellows in there, and well he was quite handsome if Remmick had to describe him some way he'd say, maybe a 7 out of 10.

"Ya alright there pal" Remmick said "Fucking hell, what do they need all this force for" the man spouted

"Like I wasn't in cuffs too" he added as he picked up his keys and Id card from the floor, "So, I guess we are neighbors, eh?"

"Remmick pointed out "Guess so, Eryk the name's Eryk"

Said the young man "hey do they always give totally empty fucking houses" Erick said getting up from the floor while getting a look into his place "Yup, that's the new guy special, an empty place with a barely furnished kitchen and a semi-functional bathroom, at least you'd get some food for about a week, they came here earlier with it, heard them while getting ready to work" Remmick joked about it, but the reality was that the food here was just enough for them to force you into a job before you'd starve, it also wasn't too good in taste most times. "So neighbor, what's your name, care to give me that at least?" Erick asked "Remmick, Remmick Jones"

Remmick replied with compliance, "Alrighty" Erick said before adding "Any tips for a newbie?" - "If I have to guess they will come here to give you some job offers tomorrow, they only give those that are open at the moment, so if there ain't nothing you fancy join the easiest one and wait for something better to open, every building has a bulletin board with lists of new job offers, also right now you are fresh, they don't care about you at all so you won't have cameras in that place of yours " Remmick pointed at the house " But if you seem too smart, or suspicious they'll send a masked worker, now he'll try to do some services like a check up or some, but those freaks work for the big leader lady, they will put cameras to have a little look at what you do or say, also don't piss them off " - " Good to know, friend " Erick said in a sort of acknowledgment " you know, those dolls look quite well-made, I used to work with porcelain myself- " Erick was cut off " You did! Yuck mate, yuck " Remmick said in a bit of disgust " Yeah I guess it's not a good flex in.. here " Erick said a bit ashamed " But that's like a big skill of mine, and who knows maybe it'll be useful, at least with the government guys " he tried to fix his reputation but it was not much use, Remmick was a bootlicker true but not by his own will, it was the only way to live here, and most people that had to do anything with porcelain were the bad guys. " Sorry I'll let you do your thing, I said some wrong things " Erick said before closing his door, and Remmick went back to his apartment back to his propaganda and shitty beer.

Remmick woke up, it was basically nighttime, but he was thinking to himself that maybe he could help his friend Erick out, maybe he could convince him that they should stick together and make him not go for some job that might ruin him. The fella had nothing, so Remmick took a blanket, a pillow and some extra sheets he had. He knocked on the door of the apartment, Erick a bit tired, and sleepy opened the door, " Oh, what's this now " he said " thought about you sleeping on the floor, and I guess looking at you, Is it not too cold? " Remmick smirked, Erick looked down a bit embarrassed, the man was only in his boxers right now, seems like he didn't expect visitors in his sleeping time and didn't think to put anything on " You could say that I suppose. Are those for me? " Erick asked " I recon you'd need them " Remmick answered " yeah " Erick said yawning while accepting the bedding into his hands " Thank you, a lot " - " No problem, friend ".

Chapter two

Remember her, remember me

Erick heard knocking on his door, a aggressive one with a stronger grip to it, he lazily put on his glasses and with no thought opened the door, the soldiers looked at him with a tad embarrassed faces as they looked at him, " Seems you're a bit tiered sir, maybe a bit cold too? " fuck " Would you mind giving me a second " Erick asked, he closed the door after a nod from the soldier and put his clothes on as fast as he could before opening the door once more, " Well what brings you two here? " Erick asked " Employment " the armed man said, Right Remmick said some stuff about jobs yesterday, not that Erick would need much of his help, he knew what would happen when miss bell decided he's next to join her town of madness, now would be a moment to get his sorry ass into the queens' palace so the monster could meet him, whatever that being whether see her maker or someone worse than her, possibly the second option, he'd need to make a offer she would not refuse, with a cost so low at that, she's only ever interested in humans, now Erick is a human but it's a bit different with him, either way she can't keep him here for much longer, not with me around. " Well... " the soldiers looked at Erick with blank expressions " Let us go " Erick said, leaving with his arms secured by the soldiers.

Erick knew that Remmick heard all the talking from the hall, but he did not worry himself with it when he finally entered the governmental building, he was dragged into a small interview room by the men. “ Here’s your picks, choose what you want “ the man dropped a paper with a list of the hiring offers on the table, nothing interesting on it, not for him at least, he knew that what he was looking for would not be here, yet he knew men were always needed for this “ how about.. a gardener, seems on point eh “ the soldier said “ do you have any offers in a doll workshop... I know my way with well, porcelain ” the soldier look at him, a terrifying expression was plastered on his face, “ You’re a guy of interest eh, there was nothing on that in the rapports “ the soldier said “ I’d like to see Bella “ the soldier look mad he was not ready to go there but as soon as the words were said the radio spoke “ Bring him ” a woman’s voice sounded through it, weak in sound but strict and firm in tone. Erick was forced up and dragged through the hall, a large door was separating him from her, she was waiting, ever impatient, waiting for him. The door unlocked and the two men entered, Erick was sat in front of her desk, face to face with the woman he could see how blank and expressionless she really was, her face was paler with makeup powder, her cheeks were pink, her eyes had big lashes, and her lips were red, she was blank in demeanor Erick knew why, her face was unresponsive from birth it was paralyzed in many places, she could only blink and talk with the bare movements of her lips, there was no way of telling anything, “ Who are you, Erick, who are you really, no one from outside would know about the dolls already, not even Tomas knows the deal “ - “ So, what makes you special “ Erick... I turned to the guard and said “ leave... now “ Bell urged him out locking the doors as they closed “ what are you “ Bell said, and I answered “ The dolls are haunted, that’s what this is about, you want to see means of preserving humans that you deem useful, I know that, I made them,

I made you Bell, I know the purpose you serve “ - “ Its rotten work the story will move away from you, and they will stop being seen where you stop ” ... “ I see “ she said “ Is there a reason you are here? “ her question is a good one, I don't have answers for it that would satisfy any of these thoughts. “ No “ - “ None... it's meaningless “ She questioned further “ It's a story, a passing thought, you're an empty villain in it, I don't have reason “ - “ Very well, what do you want from me than “ Bell asked “ Remmick, you know him “ - “ I do “ She answered “ He serves a purpose, I need him out “ - “ Will I stay if you leave “ Once again a good question from Bella “ No, I don't think I can promise that “ - “ How about this, Make two dolls, one of me one of you, I'll keep you and you'll keep me, if this face you have stays, at least my face will stick around, for a tad longer than my body “ She said after a quick thought, it was not a dumb idea, but I don't think it will be around for too long either way it could be worth a try “ You wish to be remembered? “ - “ Is that not what you wish for too, to make a name out of yourself, to achieve something that will keep that name from being said for the last time “ She said in a serious tone, she was right too, I suppose “ I guess, yeah “ - “ Than we have a common goal “ She added “ I'll do it “ - “ thank you “ and with that the door unlocked, the soldier walked in and took Erick away, He knew what his job was.

Chapter three

Creation

Erick stayed in the workshop for the whole day, well two days, three days. He wasn't allowed to stop until all was ready, And now he held and packed two dolls into a wrapping paper. He made his way out rushing through the town to the governmental office to her. The guard were told off immediately allowing his entrance. He made his way to Bell. And was taken in.

“ These are beautiful” Bell said “ Thank you “ - “ Big night ahead of you is it not ” She joked about it “ You could say that, I suppose “ - “ well, don’t wait on the finale, you need to sleep too “ She said “goodbye Bell “ - “goodbye you “.

Chapter four

Freedom

It was night, Remmick heard a knock on the door, It woke him up from his sleep, as he sat up on his couch he heard the locks unlock and the door opening before closing again. Step step step, A figure showed itself in the frame of his room, eyes white, strange liquid bubbles went out of its mouth, like cigarette smoke, seemingly making waves in reality around a sort of aura near their edges, it held a doll. It was a strange feeling to see it. Remmicks head was buzzing, his eyes felt blurry and body was light, but in that hazed feeling he looked at the figure and saw who it was, Erick, at that realization it felt as real as ever, before he felt like he was dreaming, but now he could tell it was real, he was awake. Erick moved closer and Remmick made a quick way of getting up to back away. “

Remmick... do you believe in a god “ - “ what “ Remmick said in confusion “ I.. think so “ he added “ And if I told you, that it does not matter... what would you do? ” - “ I... I don’t know “ Remmick replied fear building up “ Remmick, you are not real Remmick, a amalgamation of words, thoughts, ideas ... dreams “ Remmick felt his body stopping “ Remmick do you fear the visage of what your god is “ - “ I .. I don’t understand “ ... “ All the worship of this world, it is for me Remmick because this world is mine to have and weave “ - “ I am the maker, I am the author of the story “ - “ Remmick, do you wish to see me “

- “ Yes “ Remmick said tears in his eyes, he feared not to answer or to deny, the figure stopped as from its eyes and mouth the same liquid bubbles flew up, the body of Erick dissolved, liquid flew in the air and formed what looked like wings maybe a snout of sorts eyes, not really eyes showed from a elongated part of the body that looked like a head, it moved like liquid floating in space as reality waved and bent on the edges of the liquid in colors that looked like gasoline reflecting the sun. “ Be not afraid, Remmick “ - “ I... I.. “ Remmick cried, scared, he kept looking on the being in the sky “ Remmick, there is nothing after this for you, so I’ll give you one, for as long as I can remember you I’ll keep dreaming about you, we will go on so many adventures together, it will be beautiful I promise “ I lunged at him, the room covered in liquid thoughts that seeped from every orifice, in the morning soldiers came and so did Bella, all that was left was an outline in the liquid of a person no longer seen.
